3. Questions you may want to discuss with your healthcare provider:

- Is treating women experiencing menopause part of your practice? If not, can you recommend a specialist?
- How can I tell if what I'm experiencing is caused by menopause, or some other condition?
- How long will my symptoms last?
- How will menopause affect my health overall?
- How long should I keep using birth control?
- Do I need treatment for menopause? If so, what treatments are best for me?
- Is hormone replacement therapy right for me? What are the side effects, and how can I deal with them?
- How safe is hormone therapy for me?
- How will menopause affect my sex life?
- How does menopause affect other diseases or conditions I have?
- Does menopause increase my risk for other conditions? What tests or screenings should I have now, and how often?
- Are there any medications, supplements, or natural remedies you recommend?
- Should I make any changes to my diet?
- How much and what kinds of exercise should I be doing?
- Are there other lifestyle habits that could be especially helpful for me?
- How long does menopause typically last, and how will I know when it's over?
